Proverbs 22:6 (KJV)

<sup>6</sup> Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

As I look at the youth today, and of course this is not a “one size fits all;” I am very troubled. I see where parents aren’t taking the God-given responsibility to teach the children. More often than not, it seems like parents want to be their child’s “friend” not their parent.

In retrospect, it seems like every generation attempts to assert itself by not being like the previous generation. If the adults have short hair, the next generation has long hair, and if the adults have long hair, the next generation shaves their heads.

There are some things that should not be changed. Respect, honor, and loyalty should be standards through all generations. Regardless of how a person looks on the outside, inside the fruit of the spirit needs to be nurtured.

A trip to a farm will show that there is a huge difference between youth and age. While the yearlings are jumping around and getting into mischief, the mature animals are standing quietly by chewing and watching. It’s natural for children and youth to act differently than the elderly. And neither should be criticized for the actions of their age.

We seem like we have entered into an area of extreme casualness that has entered the church on every level that demonstrates a lack of honor for God, His house, and His values. How can we expect the world to honor God when God’s people refer to Him as the “Big Man Upstairs,” and treat Him like a “good ol’ boy?”

Several years ago there was a man leaving a particular church, and he stopped off by the restroom. Later as he was walking out the double doors in front of the church, one of the doors bumped his shoulder and three rolls of toilet paper that he had stolen from the bathroom fell to the ground. How can adults who steal from God expect their children to respect the house of God? Of course, we will help people in need, but there is a huge gap between benevolence and theft. Adults should know the difference.

Instead of complaining about the disrespect of the young, let's try training them by example. Actually, children imitating their parents has been much of the problem. Many adults show no respect for the commands of God and don't trust God with their money.

When parents force their children to go to school, and then give them a choice of whether or not to attend church, that is teaching and training their child that the schoolhouse is more important than God's house.

Adults must realign their values with God's Word. Children are very perceptive. They can see past empty words, so the value change must take place in the heart. Empty words backed up by lame actions will not change anything, but conviction and motivated sincere actions will rally the next generation.

As adults we need to quit saying one thing and doing something else. Empty words backed up by lame actions will not change anything, but conviction and motivated sincere actions will rally the next generation.

Ephesians 5:1 (AMP)

Sanctity of Life

"The greatest destroyer of peace today is abortion"-Mother Teresa;

"Pro-Life is Pro Science"-Gary Bauer.

Margaret Sanger stated in Pivot of Civilization (1922, chapter 12, "Woman and the Future"): "We are informed that the psychological examination of the drafted men indicated that nearly half, 47.3%, of the population had the mentality of twelve-year-old children or less—in other words that they are morons.....

Our 'overhead' expense in segregating the delinquent, the defective and the dependent, in prisons, asylums and permanent homes, our failure to segregate morons who are increasing and multiplying.....demonstrate our foolhardy and extravagant sentimentalism.

No industrial corporation could maintain its existence upon such a foundation.

Yet hardheaded 'captains of industry,' financiers who pride themselves upon their cool-headed and keen-sighted business ability are dropping millions into rosewater philanthropies and charities that are silly at best and vicious at worst."

Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas wrote in his concurring opinion of Box v. Planned Parenthood of Indiana and Kentucky, May 28, 2019: "In a report titled 'Birth Control and the Negro,' Sanger and her coauthors identified blacks as 'the great problem of the South'—'the group with "the greatest economic, health, and social problems"—and developed a birth-control program geared toward this population.

She later emphasized that black ministers should be involved in the program, noting 'We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, and the minister is the man who can straighten out that idea if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members.'"

A statement printed in Sanger's pamphlet The Woman rebel (1914: NY: National Archives): "Birth control appeals to the advanced radical because it is calculated to undermine the authority of the Christian churches. I look forward to seeing humanity free someday of the tyranny of Christianity no less than capitalism."

Justice Thomas continued: “Some black groups saw ‘family planning as a euphemism for race genocide’ and believed that ‘black people’ were taking the brunt of the ‘planning’ under Planned Parenthood’s ‘ghetto approach’ to distributing its services. ‘The Pittsburgh branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People,’ for example, ‘criticized family planners as bent on trying to keep the Negro birth rate as low as possible’ .....

These observations echo the views articulated by the eugenicists and by Sanger decades earlier: ‘Birth Control’ of itself...will make a better race’ and tend ‘toward the elimination of the unfit.’”

Margaret Sanger’s Birth control Review (April 1933) published an article by Nazi advisor Ernst Rudin, one of the “fathers of racial hygiene,” who wanted to eliminate inferior mankind—“untermensch.”

Hippocrates of Kos (c.460-370 BC) is referred to as the “Father of Medicine” for starting the disciplined Hippocratic School of Medicine in the 4th Century BC Greece. His attitude, “first, do no harm,” was summed up in his work “Of the Epidemic,” Book 1 (c.400BC): Practice two things in your dealings with disease: either help or do not harm the patient.” He is credited with formulating “The Hippocratic Oath,” which from ancient times, was taken by all medical practitioners: “I swear...I will use those dietary regimens which will benefit my patients according to my greatest ability and judgement, and I will do no harm or injustice to them. I will not give a lethal drug to anyone if I am asked, nor will I advise such a plan; and similarly I will not give a woman a pessary to cause an abortion. In purity and according to divine law will I carry out my life and my art.

Unfortunately, in recent times, left-wing ideologues have infiltrated the medical profession and endeavored to alter the original Hippocratic Oath.

NOTE: Hosea 4:6 states that God’s people are destroyed for a lack of knowledge.

(To be continued next month)

2 Chronicles 7:14 (KJV)

<sup>14</sup> If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.

IT IS TIME FOR CHRISTIANS TO AWAKEN AND ACT!

MAY GOD BLESS THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA!
